High Stakes Management Prepares for Company Growth

MERRIAM, Kansas, September 2, 2021 - High Stakes Management is preparing for growth and expansion in the upcoming months.

High Stakes Management began in 2019 by entrepreneur Kurt Kozlowski. While the business started in Omaha, Nebraska, its roots are now planted in the Kansas City metropolitan area.

As a third-party marketing company, High Stakes Management handles all of the sales and customer service for its Fortune 500 clients. At this time, a majority of the operations are centered around AT&T, working in retail stores to answer questions about products and services, set up new customer accounts and troubleshoot. However, High Stakes Management is looking to take on a variety of new clients.

Growth is certain to come for this small business in the upcoming months, as five more retail locations have been added to the list. By 2022, High Stakes Management will have contracts with a total of 10 stores to market and sell in on behalf of its clients. As its reach continues to grow, internal expansion is taking place as well. The sales and marketing team is larger and stronger than ever, forcing the company to move into a bigger office space.
